

(No subject)

From Brent Hardie <frog4bahafrika@gmail.com>

Date Thu 1/15/2026 2:42 AM

3 attachments (7 MB)

IMG_20260115_095359_181.jpg; IMG_20260115_095325_646.jpg; IMG_20260115_100807_450.jpg;

Greetings to all,

Finally back on the Road again!!! We were to leave Lusaka's bus station at 6:00 am at 9:50 we finally managed to depart, three hours and fifty minutes later. Trying a new bus to the Copperbelt, Kitwe.

We were encouraged to take UBZed. Much more organized, not worry about luggage hopping in the aisle. Only allowed one piece of luggage for all three of us. All bus companies used to allow two luggages per person without charge. Saw post one luggage , I believe that's still per person, but , luggage handler demanded 100 kwacha, though there were three of us. Not to make a seen I paid 100 kwacha, though only having two luggages for two different people under bus. This bus has a toilet unlike the other buses for number 1; purposes only.

It is a seven hour trip. Should arrive around 5:00 pm due to delay. To be thankful for delay that's the key. His (God's purposes are not known) which we can be thankful for.

The Lord calls us to be content.

We are thankful for the prayers of our brothers and sisters in the Lord.

Getting to Kitwe today, then boarding Charter Bus that takes us to Sakeji School Friday am.

Again to all of you thanks for your prayers and support. God Bless.

"Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content (Philippians 4:11)."

(Still learning by God's grace, not mastered yet.)

1 Bus finally on the move.

2 Samuel chilling

3 Heroes Stadium in Lusaka as we pass by.